Newsy Notes of Pendleton

Boy Sent to Training School.
Because he would not attend school and could not be controlled by his parents, Kenneth Burt was yesterday ordered committed to the state training school.

Recovered from Smallpox.
Fred Winsor, who has been quarantined at his bluff street home for the past two weeks with smallpox, has entirely recovered and has resumed his work at the Workingmen's Clothing store.

Indians to Hunt Deer.
Rev. J. G. Dickson, well known Indian minister, Robinson Minthorn and Philip Jones, deacons in the Indian church at Tutuilla, left yesterday for the mountains at the headwaters of McKay creek where they will enjoy two weeks of deer and bear hunting.

Conducted Heppner Funeral.
Rev. Charles Quinney returned last evening from Heppner where he went to conduct the funeral of Mrs. Annie Hynd, who died at Alana, Healy on Tuesday last. Mrs. Hynd leaves five sons and two daughters to mourn her loss. Her husband died a little more than a year ago at the age of 85.

Son Is Born.
A nine and a half pound son was born last night to Mr. and Mrs. Ben B. Eastridge of Helix at the home of Mrs. Knight's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Knight, in this city. This is the second grandchild presented to Mr. and Mrs. Knight within the past few days, a child having been born to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Knight Wednesday.

The Facts About Solomon.
That the story telling of the devastation of Solomon, Alaska, greatly exaggerates the population of that place is declared by Wesley Matlock who was at Solomon during August. At that time, according to Matlock there were but seven people there. At one time, however, Solomon was a more important point and there are many deserted buildings there. These buildings were doubtless wrecked during the story. The story telling of the destruction of Solomon estimated the population to be 800.

Talking Pictures Please.
It was a highly pleased audience that attended the first production of the talking pictures in Pendleton last evening. The program gave positive evidence of the perfection of the kinetophone. The talking, singing, etc., is as natural as real life and the effects are marvelous. The program last evening was varied and ranged from comedy playlets to such heavy pieces as the quarrel scene in "Julius Caesar." A minstrel production closed the program. This afternoon the program given last evening is being repeated at a matinee and this evening there will be a complete change of program. The performance starts at the regular Oregon theater hour, 8:30.

RESULTS ANNOUNCED IN MONDAY'S PAPER OF GIFT CONTEST
Owing to the closing of the polls in the Merchants Gift Contest at 6 o'clock this evening, the East Oregonian will be unable to make an announcement of the winner until Monday as the final count will be too late for today's issue. The winner, however, and the total number of votes cast for each contestant in the prize competition will be announced in Monday afternoon's edition.

New Riverside Home.
Roscoe Stephens, a new arrival from California, is having a residence built on a tract he has in Riverside.

Sutherland Recovering.
William Sutherland, who suffered a broken leg two weeks ago while piling wheat at Mission, is recovering rapidly at his home in Riverside.

Former Local Lady Ill.
Mrs. L. S. Logan, formerly a well known Pendleton lady and now the wife of a prominent stockman of Prineville, is seriously ill with pneumonia at a South Bend hospital, according to a message received today by Jesse McGee, her brother.

Riverside School.
With Miss Rose Tenny as Teacher, the people of Riverside are conducting their own school this year, having recently erected a modern school building. There are 25 pupils now enrolled in the Riverside school.

East End Couple to Wed.
A marriage license was issued today to Archie W. Bowman and Lottie L. Brown, a Freewater couple. The girl being but 17 1/2 years old, it was necessary for her uncle, J. M. Marlatt who is also her guardian, to file his consent.

Adams Holding His Own.
Robert Adams, the young stockman injured two weeks ago when a horse fell over on him, is reported to be holding his own. His father, Walter Adams, states that he appeared to be a little better yesterday and that his condition is unchanged today. He feels encouraged.

He Liked East Oregonian.
John Dyer, proprietor of the East End Grocery, has received a letter from D. F. Dillard of Watterbury, Conn., to whom he had sent copies of the Round-up issues of the East Oregonian. Mr. Dillard and Mr. Dyer are old time friends and in thanking the local man for the papers the man in New England declared the stories and illustrations of the show were so thrilling he felt as though he had seen the Round-up.

Sold Livery Horses; Arrested.
Sheriff T. D. Taylor returned from Heppner Junction last evening having in his custody Charles Edwards of Vancouver and Amos Smith of Oregon City, two young men of 21 who, it is alleged, hired a couple of horses and saddles two weeks ago from Oscar Wall of this city and sold them in the Olex country. When arrested they still had in their possession the checks and money alleged to have been received from the illegal sale.

New Route Established.
Owing to the increasing number of subscribers to the East Oregonian in the Riverside section a carrier route has been established to cover Riverside and outlying homes in the east end of the city. This route is now in operation and papers are being left at every home in Riverside. The carrier travels on bicycle. The new route makes the ninth local route for the East Oregonian and is the second route to extend beyond the city. The other outside routes taken in the state hospital and has been in operation since work on that institution was started.

Partners Disagree; Suit Results.
D. A. Arnold, who has been in partnership with H. E. Withers since August 1 in the carriage and auto painting business at 725 Cottonwood street, today commenced suit to secure an accounting and to have a receiver appointed so that the equipment can be sold and a settlement made. He alleges that the defendant has collected all money owed the firm but has neglected to pay their debts and that now threatens unless restrained from including in their accounts claims contracted prior to the formation of the partnership. James A. Fee is his attorney.

LOCAL MAN MEETS OLD TILLACUM

JAMES CRAWFORD AND O. W. HARTNESS CROSSED PLAINS TOGETHER IN 1864. PIONEER LOOKING FOR "BULLWHACKING" TRAILS.

"When we crossed the plains in '64 it took me five months to get to Walla Walla from low and while we had no fights with the Indians there were times when my hair would stand straight up and there was a reason for it."

Thus narrates O. W. Hartness of Walla Walla who is here today visiting his sister, Mrs. John Knight and hobnobbing with his comrade of 1864, James Crawford, retired harness and saddle dealer who is here from his present home in Portland. During the forenoon today Mr. Crawford brought his old time friend to the East Oregonian and introduced him as a man with whom he had crossed the plains to Oregon in '64.

"You don't mean it; you are not old enough to tell that sort of a story," Mr. Crawford was at once informed. "Oh, yes I am," was the reply. "We crossed the plains from Albia, Iowa to Oregon. We came through here before there was any Pendleton. Mr. Hartness went over to Walla Walla and I went on to Portland which was then a place of about 2500 people. From Portland I went to Albany and later went into business at Halsey. All told I was in business in Oregon for 42 years. My wife was a native of western Oregon, having been born near Dallas. Her father came across the plains in '49."

On the long trip across from Iowa the immigrant party had many experiences. There were 40 people in the party most of the time but some dropped out. Only a few of the men had guns and a dozen Indians could have killed off the entire party. However no attacks were made. In Colorado though a stampede occurred that was bad. Some of the stock got away and horses went as far back east as 100 miles before they could be caught.

BIG EXPLOSION WILL START WORK TODAY

Some time this afternoon or this evening Pendleton will be startled by a blast that may make some think they are just getting the echo from the great explosion which yesterday opened up the Panama canal. It will be the discharge of 500 pounds of black powder at the new reservoir site on the south hill where Bufton & Jeffry have a force of men at work excavating on their contract. For some time past, the contractors have been preparing to break up the hardpan and rock which must be removed for the reservoirs. Sticks of dynamite have been used to blow holes ten feet deep at intervals over the surface and these holes have been filled with black powder. Fuses connect the different charges and they will all be set off at once by an electric battery.

The other contracting company, the Bent Construction Co. which has the contract for laying the pipeline, is also actively engaged in operations. A plant for the manufacture of concrete pipe has been established at Cayuse and several hundred feet of pipe is being turned out each day. When a full crew is at work and the plant under full operation, it will have a capacity of 500 feet a day. The plant will be run through the winter and early in the spring the work of laying it will commence.

LA FRANCE TRIAL NOW UNDER WAY

MAN WHO FEIGNED DEATH TO GET INSURANCE CONFESSES TO HIS PART.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 11.—James C. La France, who confessed having defrauded fraternal insurance companies of nearly $16,000 by false representation of death, sat at the opening of his trial in the circuit court yesterday and heard himself identified as the stranger who had led four fishermen to a spot on the Clackamas river near Estacada and shown them the body which he claimed to have just discovered, and which bore the clothing and effects which led to his identification as that of La France. Aside from this, the most interesting part of the trial was the declaration by Deputy District Attorney McGuire that evidence had been discovered indicating that the man whose body La France passed as his own had met death by violence, a broken rib in the body being the chief basis of the theory. C. R. Walrath, deputy coroner of Clackamas county, testified that he had examined the body and believed

48 Busy Stores Golden Rule We Lead, Others Follow

The rib had been broken by a bullet. The one thing which La France has refused to do is to tell notwithstanding his confession made after his arrest is where he obtained this body. Mrs. La France, who helped her husband in the fraud, declares she does not know where the body came from and La France declares he never told her. The body never has been identified.

La France disappeared from his home here in June, 1912, soon after taking out the life insurance policies in question. On June 20, the four fishermen were led to the body on the river bank.

Lon Arman, an electrician, was the one who positively identified La France as the man who had guided them. La France, he said, appeared greatly excited and disappeared immediately after showing the party where the body lay.
